Marvying Early. The New York Evening Post says observation among one's acquaintances shows the fact to be that people do not marry early nowadays, and, indeed, as a general rule, do not marry early enough. In many cases that event takes place as a result of pru-denes and calculation. The New York Lolger rejoins: We cannot agree with our contemporary in regarding time as so important an element in marriage. A girl com afford to wait a great many years rather than marry any one but the right man; while, on the other hand, it may be wise for a man to marry the saw and a brain which reflected on right girl at som ache is sure he less what the eyes reported to it. found her, no matter how early. the Russian Emperor as preperty immediately attached to the Crown when we hear that the Altai eslates alone cover an area of 40,000,000 desjutius, or ever 170,000 square miles, being about three times the size of England and Wales. The Nertelinsk estates, ia Eastern Siberia, arc estima ted at about 18,000,000 desjatins. In the Aliai estales are situated the gold and silver mines of Barnaul, Pauloy Smijov and Loktjepp, the copper foundry at Sasonn and the great iren works at Gavrilov, in the Salagrov District. The receipts from theso enormous estates are in a redicalously pitiful ratio to their extent. In the year 1882 they amounted to 950,090 rubies, or a little more than £95,000; while for 1883 the revenue was estimated at less than half this sun, or about 400,000 rubies. The Water Works. The board of Water Commissioner liave completed the survey of the routes for piping the lown, and will soon by ready to contract for the work. A change in the location of the filter has been discussed, a suggestion having been ninde that it be placed on Hollis street configuous to the railroad, thus affording a convenient site for damping of material brought by ears. The filtering gallery will be a substantial structure of stone, the walls as we learn, to be some 12 feet high, and the arrangements for tiltering the water will be of the most perfect character.

In the experience. of other towns where water supply has been obtained, there has been a very large accumulation of rock material, most of which must be removed, as it cannot be used in Illing the trenches. As Weymouth soll is well supplied with stone, it is supposed that the dumping of this waste will be a burdensome expense, and the suggestion is made that the Selectmen exercise the power thrancial delegated to them in regard to highways, and take measures to utilize this material by procuring a stone crusher and have the stone hauled to some con- at Home." It is well said that the hand is a pro formed study. No instrument devised by min compares with it for complicatian. It is a hammer, a vice, a forceps, a book; a spring, a weight; it pushes, draws in, and the fingers alone contain elements of chisely, gonges, and all the tools a realptor requires in modeling. From the elbow to the eligibal extremtles its movements are produced by nearly lifty transites. So complicated is the cordage of the human hand, expert anatomists can hardly keep in remembrancoits intricate mechanism. Mexico has seven titles of over 45;

A REMARKABLE CARE OF ARRESTED DEVELOPMENT. A Near With Some Wenderful Pect Harding Adverpages Sideways Seeing in Darket so. The story of a redar katala himan belaga is given than united in Bapalar Science Morably entitled "Was 10; An Island"

The individual referred to in the article died recently at Hampton Falls, N. II In reference to him, the writer, Hev. W. A. Crain, transfers:

"Nature, in what are called her freaky or abnormal products, of times gives 1a hints of powers altogether beyon 1 the ordinary, but destined, it may be, through the development of the race, to become common passessions of markind."

The prism who aggested this though to Mr. Coin stooped forward like a quad-ruped when his walked, his hands hand-ing for down. His forehead was full ni-well developed, but his lank head tose high in a point, and there was a despendencesion on each side. In its physical characteristics his body somewhat recembled that of a awine, and while cating he would frequently make the peculiar grant of a log and turn his head to one side as if listening, as that an inist does.

As ordinary people go, this tract was an idlint. Rev. Mr. Chain calls him a case of arrested development, and com pares him to n young tree with the top broken off. When that happens "the sap flows more vigorously late the re-maining branches and they become enernormaly developed."

The man had not sense enough by earn to real in the ordinary way. The impact alreach he was equal to was a learn the letters of the alphabet in learn the letters of the adjunctions, singly. He was mable to combine error two of them into nsyllable. Yet this inexplicable creature spent much of his time with rewspapers, apparently positing them with the greatest enjoyment.

ing them with the grented enjoyment list very strangely he always tust-led on holding the puper with the lines running up and down instead of from side to side. He always "read "from right to left. If anybody turned lie paper right has side up he always turned it back. In some mysterious way he certainly enught a meaning to the words, whatever it was. At times he provided here back in his chair and laugh would lean luck is his chair and laugh heartily at something he found, a thought he found, in the paper. Any thing that interested him he would he

this stringe being would go to his gairet and tin a pile of a lorrdeal by his hand on the exact paper and bring it down -that, no, in total darkness. A normal being could not have done so much i dayligid. But this man hal the power of seeing in the dark. He would begin to read when it was scancily growing dark and keep on till others could scarcely distinguish any object in the scarcely distinguish any abject in the toom.

In mathematics he possessed a like wonderful, unaccountable faculty. He could not lean to count, and yether could tell in an instant the answer to mathematical problems that required for others half an hours careful radioultion. The did this ugain and lagain with light-ning-like rapidity and with uncerting correctness. How tild he do it!

There were other performances equally mysterious, for which there is not space here. But the full article in the Monthly is interesting. The Rey, Mr. Crain says.

is intensting. The Rev. Mr. Crain says
"Bladed and unprisoned where we commonly see and understand, had some of his faculties and powers unpossed the of his faculties and powers surpassed the ordinary bounds in a higher and fixer development? What meant his power of seeing in the dark, of selecting from a file of landreds a paper containing a particular article, published a year or more before, that the had never learned to read a sontence as even understand reading? HAIR RENEWER was the first preparation perfectly adapted to star diseases of the neals, and the first second interest of facted or gray linit to its datast color, growth, and youliful beauty, it has had many initiature, but none bare so fully not fall the requirements needful for the proper tremment of the land scalp, it allows, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quaster of the globe. Its ampainfield enceess can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surrolled.

The proprietors have often been surplied at the receipt of orders from temote control, where they had never made an effort for lithoid metals.

The use for w short time of HALL's HAIR HEYAWAR wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleauses the scriplom, off importies, cures will known, fever, and dryness, and thus provents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and entitles them to push forward w new mid vigoous grawth. The effects of the nellele are not trusient, like those of niceboile preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its uses a matter of economy.

FOR MESIDENT. CHESTER A. ARTHUR.

The National Republican Convention meets at Chleago on Tuesday next, and the people will awalt with eager interest the amounteement of the name that will head the Republican ticket in the coming presidential campaign. There are many strong cambilates in the field, each of whom has a greater or less following; but there has been a growing feeling during the past few weeks that President Arthur, by virtue of the mauner in which he has administered the affeirs of his office since the ileath of successor. Almost invariably, in talk-lng with republicaus, and even some furnished a beautiful bouquet. On the democrats, after mentioning the various candidates, the question has feen asked, other doral adoraments nided in making Why not nominate Arthur?" When President Arthur took his sept up a highly pleasing picture. The rear as chief executive, the scutiment of the country seemed to be against him; but when the people saw him calmly and wisely meet the demands of the hour. as they noted the quiet dignity with which he entered upon his duties, the press and people awarded him his just need of praise. The tongue of scandal so often wagged during former adthur has shown himself to be a dignifled, safe and statesmanlike president. He has given every possible encouragement to the cause of civil service to A form, the appointment of a givil service commission being one of the con-pieuous acts of his term, and one of the foremost reforms in government affairof the present day has thus been successfully inaugurated.

But the most forcible argument infavor of Arthur's monination is the fact that a large propertion of the business men of the country back with favor me on such action by the convention. They are satisfied that a change of policy it the head of the government at the prescut time would be disistriuts to the industries and commercial relations of the nation, and they want no man it the presidential chair whose aggressive ness or untried policy would menace these interests, knowing that the equilibring of trade so strongly depends up-

If President Arthur should be nominated, a common pride and sense of responsibility would mite the reguldicans of New York state in his support, and republicans all through the several states would work for the triumphant election of the man who has so uniter the party and so earefully maintained the best interests of the whole people.
